Giving a Voice to the Voiceless

Save the Children Bal Raksha Bharat, under the International NGO Partnership Programme with the Department for International Development (DFID) UK, has launched a project entitled, 'Stronger Voice to Excluded Children in Government and NGO Policies and Programmes' (IPAP) in three backward districts of Rajasthan, viz., Alwar, Chittorgarh and Bharatpur, in partnership with Alwar Mewat Institute of Education and Development (AMIED); CUTS CHD, Chittorgarh; Prayati Bharatpur; and Society for All Round Development (SARD), New Delhi.

The goal of the project is 'By 2012, socially excluded children (Schedule Caste and Schedule Tribes) in Rajasthan have improved status with their voices being heard and recognised institutionally by formal and informal structures'. It was found that very less community members were aware of SMC and its functioning. Generally, villagers can spare time in the evening and teachers do not have time during evening hours due to their busy schedule. It was not possible to ensuring education for all without regularising meeting of SMCs and making them accountable and responsible towards schools for its development work whether it is construction or education.

A suggestion box was fixed at Samri village during April 2012. In the suggestion box, one member of Bal Panchayat dropped a letter suggesting that Anganwadi Centre should be constructed by the government. At present the Centre is running in private-rented room and there is lack of adequate space. On the basis of the letter, it was decided by the gram panchayat to construct a Government Anganwadi Centre immediately and the fund has also been released. It is expected that the Centre will be constructed within two-three months.
